About Lisa Pedersen & Fab Frugal Mama

Lisa is a wife, business owner and work-at-home Mom of two. Her blog is a labour of love, started in 2010 after the birth of her second child. First-time Moms would often ask her about her cloth diapering experiences or which brand of sippy cup was leak-proof, so it seemed like a logical step to put all of her research and opinions in one place. She writes about family, fashion, parenting adventures and her favourite products and services. You won't find anything on her site that she doesn't personally use or love; she likes sharing things that make her life easier or inspire her in some way.
